TEAMING: Releasing the Transforming Power of Coalition Building

Those with a commitment to social justice recognize the value of 'lifting all boats' for the benefit of all. But when one or more parts of the whole are left out, results suffer. A true democracy more than tolerates our differences, it welcomes and values them.

What is required...in schools, on campuses, in the workplace and in our faith communities...is skilled coalition builders to lead us through the process. Utilizing a series of interactive, experiential exercises, NCBI presents a systematic method to achieve that end across lines of race, class, gender, age and political self-interest.
